

TWO HONORED—Two Honorary Life Memberships were presented, at the February 5 meeting of the Crenshaw Elementary School PTA. Mrs. Don Robinson, President of Crenshaw PTA, left, admires the Life Membership card and pin awarded Kenneth Blake, eighth grade teacher at Crenshaw. Mrs. Russell Carroll, far right, Life Membership chairman, admires the card and pin awarded Mrs. Clint Chapman, past president of Crenshaw PTA. Mrs. Carroll made the presentations at the meeting.

Safety Test For Bicycle Riders

The Crenshaw Safety Committee (CSC) will entertain the students and faculty with a series of activities. This program is under the guidance of Donna Bayliff, president of CSC and vice-president of the student advisory council, and Frank Demyan, faculty advisor.

On February 13 and 14 in the school auditorium a written examination on bicycle safety was given all bicycle riders. It consisted of twenty-five questions on bicycle safety and care. This will be under the direction of Barry Levy, vice-president of CSC, and Roger Morgan, member of the committee.

Bicycle condition, brake and signal tests, and courtesy, will be judged by Carol Augsburger, secretary; Adriene Barnett, treasurer; Cheryl Rickabaugh, Rickabaugh, Carol Scoville, and Rocky Zar. Drivers licenses will be presented to those who pass the tests.

All entries will be graded, with the sixteen highest scores being able to participate in the rodeo, which is scheduled for March 28. Artifacts of merit will be awarded these boys and girls.

The Rodeo will be held at Crenshaw Elementary School's playground. This program will consist of coasting around a circle, in and out of pins, stopping on a line, a brake test, maneuvering in circles and figures, a square dance, and clown riding, a special feature of the Rodeo will be the Crenshaw Cadets, a newly formed drill squad made up of boys selected from grades 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The Crenshaw Parent-Teacher Association's Safety Committee, and the Crenshaw Student Advisory Council Safety Committee are currently conducting a safety poster contest at the school. All posters must pertain to safety, and they will be judged on the originality of getting the message across. The deadline date for this contest is March 25. All posters handed in before March 25 will be judged and selections made for local and state contests.

Twenty-two safety rules have been set up and submitted to the Crenshaw Student Advisory Council. These rules which were made by the Safety Committee, have been approved by SAC and are now in effect at Crenshaw School.

South High PTA

By Mrs. David Sokoloff

At the last executive board meeting held at Mrs. David Sokoloff's home, Mrs. Albert Yackle was nominated to the nominating committee of PTA council and Mrs. Hawkins was nominated as representative to the Torrance Co-ordinating council for South High PTA. Mrs. Donald Hauser gave a report on the dental health meeting and stated that anyone interested is asked to attend the meetings held the first Wednesday of each month at the Torrance Board of Education building.

Dr. W. B. Magner spoke of the co-operation extended by the teachers and staff in contributing their free time to get the high school ready for use the first day after vacation. He stated that it would not have been possible without the help of everyone, including the Board of Education.

Donations toward the milk fund and for the graduation party were approved by the board. Mrs. Sokoloff announced that Colonel Buck of the South Bay Area of Civil Defense is requesting the services of a woman in this area to head a women's division of civil defense.

Hot chocolate was furnished and served by Mrs. Hawkins.

Parkway PTA

"Parade of Memories" program in commemoration of PTA Founders Day celebration highlighted the February 6, meeting of Parkway school chapter.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jan Myers, sixteen students of Mrs. Jean Carter's third and fourth grade class modeled in authentic costumes and makeup "A Grandmother's Memories" as narrated by Mrs. Don O'Connell. Musical accompaniment by Mr. John Walker, seventh grade teacher.

Modeling fashions of the years 1897 through 1929 were students Helen Neu, Pattie McClung, Susan Strater, Glenda Hall, Kristina Lindley, Mildred Saban, Sunny Phillips, Diane Keenen, Cathy Mayor, Bobbie Parregoy, Colleen McClean. Their attendants were Jim Mayo, Bill Snyder, Jim Votchi and Steve Libber.

Special feature of the evening was the song stylings of the Parkway school girls vocal group "The HARLEQUINS" under the direction of Mr. John Walker. This group is composed of Pamela Reeves, Eileen Keenan, Rosemary McIlraith and Marjorie Terry.

FLORENCE MARY BLAKE

Lecturer, Teacher, Consultant

Editor's Note: While at the University of Minnesota, Miss Blake received honors in psychology and public speaking and has lectured in many states and conducted courses in charm and etiquette for several years.

Miss Blake has appeared on television and radio and has had numerous articles published. She has done employee training in the industrial and retail fields, fashion show commenting, fashion coordination, and is on the teaching staff of the Travel Industries Personnel Service.

She is well known for her own original course, "Individual Dynamics" which is particularly designed for the modern business woman and for her lectures to women's clubs. Miss Blake has a wealth of material and a manner of presentation that gives her audience a feeling of having been entertained as well as instructed.

Her enthusiasm, humor, understanding and own personal charm have endeared her to many.

KNOW WHERE YOU'RE GOING.

What a potent thought! Don't we all wish we did know just that? When we take a trip, we earnestly look for the sign-posts that will show us the best and shortest route, and we PLAN our course in advance. And, how lost we can be if we miss a few signs.

Whether round then, girls and ladies, one and all—homemaker, teenager, career woman, and those in the golden years—and let's start right now to chart our way to more radiant and confident living.

It's a great, big, wonderful world, as the poets tell us. But we often get in such a hurry for such a rut, (by the way, did you know the only difference between a rut and a grave are the dimensions?) that we fail to discover the aids to the enjoyment of living that are there for us, always available to help us become more likeable, more lovable, more beautiful, and endowed with a more sparkling personality.

Let's start with first things first.

Do you know the kind of story your posture and walk tell about you? Too often, in spite of nice clothes and a pleasing smile, a person can make a very poor first impression.

Correct posture is so vital to the health of everyone that those concerned with the well-being of our great nation have even thought it necessary to declare a National Posture Week.

Anyone, barring physical disability, can learn to walk smoothly without jarring the spine and agitating the entire nervous system. And, anyone "plopping" and can stand without fatigue and spinal curvature.

To fact, this knowledge is absolutely essential to wearing clothes smartly and improving your confidence and poise.

To the receptive mind, then, comes this new column. It is not concerned with mere rules of etiquette. Rather, it is concerned with you. Your daily improvement, your increasing charm and poise, your growing self-confidence, your glamorous femininity—these are the vital matters with which this column is concerned. The results, however, will, depend upon the sin-
